Fire safety

Did you know?
In the past, many people considered fire to be harmful to nature. Today, we know that fire plays an important role in maintaining healthy forests. Parks Canada encourages a natural fire cycle through the use of prescribed fire and wildfire management techniques.

Fires have impacted some trails in recent years. Be cautious of overhead hazards from unstable trees and expect challenging travel conditions.

Are you ready to hike?

- Backpack
To carry all the essentials!
- Bear spray
Must be accessible. Know how to use it.
- Water and snacks
Stay fuelled and hydrated to safely enjoy the trail. Streams, rivers and lakes are unsafe water sources.
- Proper footwear
Hiking boots or sturdy shoes help prevent injuries on steep and uneven trails.
- Rain gear and extra clothes
Weather changes quickly in the mountains. Be prepared for wind, rain, snow and cold.
- Sun protection
Sunglasses, sunscreen and hat.
- Prepare and leave a trip plan with someone
Know where you are going and what terrain to expect.

Winter

Parks Canada does not maintain or patrol winter trails in Kootenay National Park. Some hiking trails are suitable for skiing and snowshoeing, but the park is a natural area and travel is at your own risk. For more information: parks.canada.gc.ca/kootenay-winter

You are in avalanche terrain
Avalanche season in the mountains extends from November to June. Whenever there is snow on a slope, there is potential for an avalanche. Check the current avalanche forecast: avalanche.pc.gc.ca

Be a responsible trail user

Thousands of people visit the park each year; a harmful act, multiplied by that amount, can have devastating effects.

Take the pledge

- I will stay on maintained trails.
- I will not feed or approach wildlife.
- I will not take or disturb natural objects (e.g. plants, rocks, fossils and antlers).
- I will pack out garbage, food scraps and toilet paper.
- I will properly dispose of human waste. Select a spot 100 m from any water and bury solid waste 15 cm deep.
- I will keep my dog on a leash and pick up after it.
- I will share the trail and be respectful of other users.

Park Wardens enforce the Canada National Parks Act and violators may be prosecuted. Thank you for following the rules during your visit.

Avoid dangerous wildlife encounters

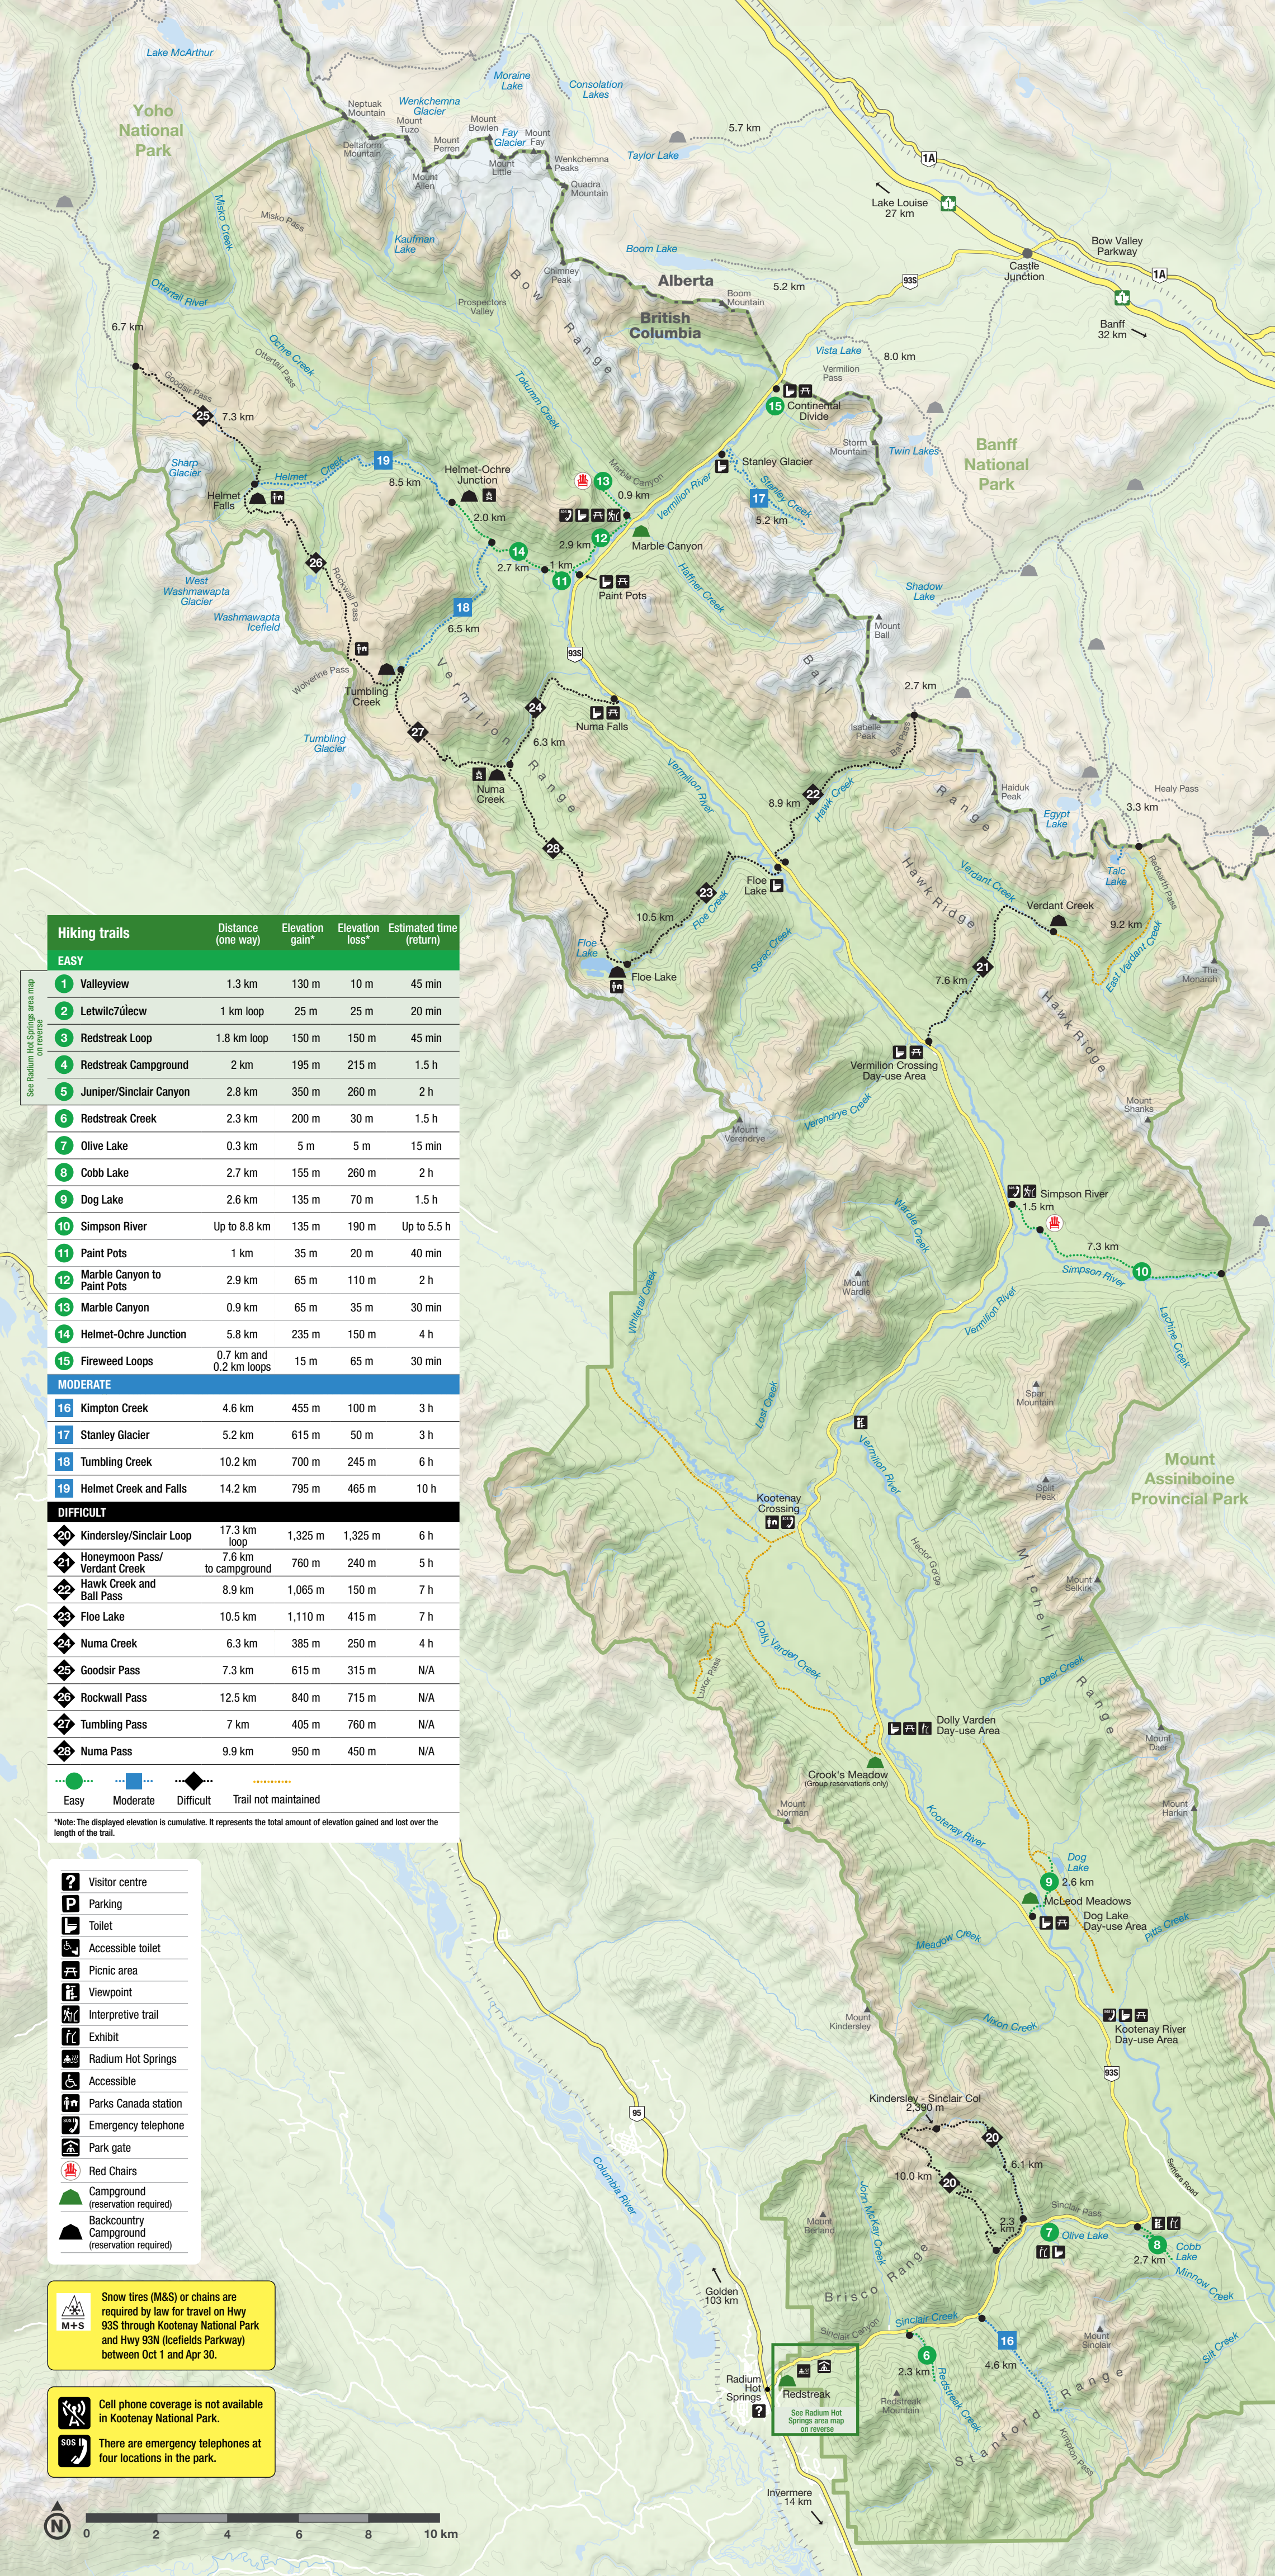

Surprise encounters with animals are dangerous. You can help prevent them!

- Make noise and travel in tight groups. Talk or call out as you move along the trail.
- Be alert. Never wear earbuds or headphones.
- Slow down. Runners are more likely to surprise an animal.
- Keep dogs on leash. Off-leash dogs can be seen as a threat and trigger aggressive behaviour.

Remember! You must carry your camping permit with you at all times. There may be random patrol checks.

 Campfires are not permitted anywhere in the Kootenay National Park backcountry.

This iconic 54 km backpacking route traverses three alpine passes through sub-alpine meadows and past hanging glaciers. Its defining feature is a massive limestone cliff, towering up to 900 m above the trail below. Pick your route option based on your abilities and campground availability.

The Rockwall: 54.1 km one way | Elevation gain: 3,405 m | Elevation loss: 3,500 m | Estimated time: 3-5 days
Entry/exit via Helmet Creek and Floe Lake. Shuttle required.

Tumbling / Floe: 37.7 km one way | Elevation gain: 2,470 m | Elevation loss: 2,565 m | Estimated time: 2-3 days
Entry/exit via Tumbling Creek and Floe Lake. Shuttle required.

Tumbling / Helmet / Ochre Loop: 36.9 km one way | Elevation gain: 1,885 m | Elevation loss: 1,885 m
Estimated time: 2-3 days
Entry and exit from Paint Pots parking lot. No shuttle required.

Numa Creek Trail is another entry/exit option, but it is often closed due to avalanche debris. Check the trail report at parks.canada.gc.ca/kootenaytrails to find out if this trail is open.
