

Wapusk
National Park

Parc national Wapusk

Species at Risk

Hudsonian Godwit

Colours

These birds are light brown in colour, with darker brown speckled wings.

Fun Facts

- The name Hudsonian Godwit comes from the Hudson Bay;
- Wapusk National Park is the species' major Manitoba staging and breeding area;
- While the bill of the Hudsonian godwit looks hard, it has a flexible tip that allows it to grasp prey hiding in thick mud;
- Due to their large size, they are also known as 'goose-birds'.