

Rouge
National
Urban Park

Today, urban development continues to take over farmland around the Greater Toronto Area. Fortunately, Rouge National Urban Park protects farmland throughout the park, including the last remaining working farms in the City of Toronto.